

Larry Milam

Illustrator / Designer

Larry Milam studied art at the University of Georgia and has been a freelance illustrator/designer for the past 20 years. Most of his artwork is created by hand on scratchboard and colored on the computer.

Larry does national work for advertising, company logos and cards, packaging, billboards, posters, magazines, books, shirts and websites... and while living in Portland, OR he taught illustration for 4 years at the Pacific NW College of Art.

Working from Sun Studio in the hills of Historic Bisbee, Larry creates artwork for clients locally and all over the country. His lino print collages are shown in local galleries.
